ABOUT PLANNED PARENTHOOD® FEDERATION OF AMERICA

Planned Parenthood® Federation of America, Inc., (PPFA®) is the nation’s leading women’s health care provider and advocate serving women, men, teens, and families. We do more than any other organization in the United States to prevent unintended pregnancies and protect women’s health and safety.

Planned Parenthood provides the highest quality sexual and reproductive health care, education, and information to five million women, men, and teens worldwide each year. Planned Parenthood’s 116 affiliates operate more than 860 local health centers across the United States. Planned Parenthood’s real-world experience as a provider of health care services informs our policies and advocacy. In partnership with nearly four million activists, supporters, and donors, we promote effective education and prevention policies, protect a woman’s right to choose, and challenge government interference in the most personal decisions of women and their families.

Planned Parenthood Federation of America is a not-for-profit organization led by experts in medicine, sexual health, advocacy, law, communications, and fundraising. Our national offices in New York City and Washington, DC, provide support for the dual health and advocacy mission of our affiliates across the country. In February, Cecile Richards, a dynamic and experienced leader in reproductive and social justice issues, took the helm as president of Planned Parenthood.

Separately incorporated, the Planned Parenthood Action Fund fortifies our commitment to protect women’s health, educate teens, and reduce the number of unintended pregnancies through voter education, electoral activity, and outreach. PPFA further enhances our work by supporting the Guttmacher Institute, an independent, not-for-profit organization that advances sexual and reproductive health through research, policy analysis, and public education.

A Message from Our Chair and Our President

Dear Friends,

It is our great pleasure to share last year’s accomplishments. We hope you view the 2005–2006 annual report as an invitation to learn more about our vibrant organization.

Planned Parenthood is many things to many people — health care provider, passionate advocate, informed educator, and around-the-clock online resource. To us, it is all those things and more: Planned Parenthood is a leader in promoting a commonsense approach to women’s health and safety that has the support of Americans across the country.

In the past year, we have lived up to our reputation as America’s most trusted provider of reproductive health care. Our affiliates’ local health centers directly helped more than three million women, men, and teens, providing them with services that included contraception (37 percent), testing and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases and infections (29 percent), cancer screening and prevention (20 percent), other women’s health services (10 percent), and abortion services (three percent). We provided authoritative sex education to an additional 1.3 million Americans, including teens.

This deep commitment to service delivery informs Planned Parenthood’s voice as a passionate and authoritative advocate. Our policy agenda focuses on preventing unintended pregnancies through effective and well-funded family planning programs, and protecting the health of our teens through real sex education. Our efforts recognize the important role that both Congress and state legislative bodies play in advancing policies that protect women’s health and safety. Last year Planned Parenthood’s advocacy work on behalf of all Americans extended from state courts to the U.S. Supreme Court. We also mobilized opposition to the confirmation of two Supreme Court nominees who have questioned a woman’s right to choose, highlighting the critical role Planned Parenthood plays in defending basic reproductive rights for women and families.

Last year the redesign of www.plannedparenthood.org made clear how much the Internet will change and define our work. With Planned Parenthood Online (www.plannedparenthood.org and www.teenwire.com — a website aimed specifically at teens), we have quickly become a leading online provider for reproductive health information and services. Approximately one million unique visitors a month — from nearly 110 countries — visit our websites to find authoritative sexual health content or to locate a health center to visit for services. With www.plannedparenthood.org and www.teenwire.com, we continue to build a presence as the most trusted provider of reproductive health information and services as we take Planned Parenthood ... Online.

In this annual report, you will discover other ways in which our work extends past the borders of the United States. Last year our International Division provided nearly $2.5 million in direct financial assistance to partner organizations throughout Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Caribbean, enabling them to deliver health care and education to nearly two million individuals. These services are complemented by the advocacy efforts of our Planned Parenthood Global Partners® program on behalf of women and their families around the world.

It has been a year of great change and growth. The important work described in this report could only be done with the unwavering commitment and courage of Planned Parenthood staff, volunteers, activists, and supporters.

As we look ahead, the challenges we face are great, yet our opportunities are even greater. We invite your partnership in the work of our incredible organization.

Esperanza Garcia Walters
PPFA Chair

Cecile Richards
PPFA President
From the 450 women who thronged to Margaret Sanger's first clinic, the number of women Planned Parenthood health centers serve has steadily grown to nearly three million women a year — totalling about 30 million since 1916. Today, one in four American women turns to Planned Parenthood for health care at least once in her life.

Excellence in Medical Standards and Training

Planned Parenthood health care experts are recognized authorities in all aspects of reproductive health care, including patient care, health care policy, education, research and technology, and public information. Last year in collaboration with the PPFA National Medical Committee of leading U.S. doctors and researchers, we published new guidelines for the medical management of early pregnancy loss as part of our ongoing effort to support innovative, evidence-based clinical services and health care. In partnership with academic centers, pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, and state departments of health, Planned Parenthood affiliates undertook several research projects in an effort to continuously improve health care and services, including research on emergency contraception, genital warts, and medication abortion.

PPFA ensures the highest medical care and standards for our clients by continuously monitoring affiliate compliance with our rigorous medical standards and guidelines. Last year, to strengthen and improve affiliates’ clinic operations and education services, we provided technical assistance and training to 32 affiliates and their 180 health centers in practice and financial management, business planning, organizational development and governance, security, and diversity.

To prepare registered nurses to become women’s health nurse practitioners, the PPFA Women’s Health Nurse Practitioner Program, a distance-learning course, graduated 13 women’s health nurse practitioners, trained 32 advanced practice clinicians to perform colposcopic examinations, created a specialty curriculum on contraception, and hosted educational seminars for physicians, nurse practitioners, and nurse midwives.

High Quality, Affordable Health Care Products

Contraception is basic health care, and Planned Parenthood is dedicated to providing women, men, and teens with the highest quality and most affordable products in the face of rising prices and dwindling government support.

The Resource Alliance at Planned Parenthood — formerly the Contraceptive Enterprise — is a collaborative effort between affiliates and the national organization that ensures our clients, regardless of their incomes, have access to a broad range of top-quality contraceptive products. Last year, the Resource Alliance successfully negotiated contracts with several leading pharmaceutical companies to enable Planned Parenthood clients to continue to receive the highest quality products at the most affordable prices. In preparation for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration’s approval of over-the-counter Plan B® emergency contraception, the Resource Alliance worked closely with Duramed Pharmaceuticals to ensure an efficient rollout and a reasonably priced, steady supply of Plan B for our clients.

Also in support of our commitment to superior products, Planned Parenthood launched a new and improved top-quality condom and distributed approximately eight million Planned Parenthood® Condoms nationwide. Intended to promote the importance of safer sex, the package features the Planned Parenthood name as well as a dedicated toll-free “smart” line that directs callers to their nearest Planned Parenthood health center. This smart line supplements our primary toll-free number — 1-800-230-PLAN — which connects hundreds of thousands of callers to affiliate health centers each year.
Health Services

The heart of Planned Parenthood affiliates’ work is providing trusted health care services that prevent unintended pregnancies through contraception, reduce the spread of sexually transmitted infections through testing and treatment, and prevent cervical and other cancers through screening. In 2005, Planned Parenthood health centers delivered nine percent more contraception services than in 2004. Overall, our health centers provided sexual and reproductive health care to more than three million women and men, increasing by four percent the total number of clients served between 2004 and 2005.

Total Services = 10,112,642

Prevention is the cornerstone of our services — 81 percent of our clients received contraception services in 2005.

*Reflects updated data.

Reversible contraceptive methods chosen by Planned Parenthood clients: oral, 44.7 percent; nonprescription barrier, 18.1 percent; no method, 10.3 percent; progestin-only injectables, 9.4 percent; combined hormone patch, 6.8 percent; other/unknown, 5.8 percent; combined hormone ring, 3.4 percent; IUD, 1.1 percent; prescription barrier, 0.2 percent; fertility awareness-based methods, 0.2 percent.

A colposcopy examination aids in the diagnosis and treatment of abnormal growth cells in the cervix. LEEP and cryotherapy are treatments for abnormal growths.

*Some examples in this category include WIC services (a federally funded nutrition program for low-income women, infants, and children up to the age of five), pediatric care, and immunizations.
PLANNED PARENTHOOD® EDUCATING WOMEN, TEENS, AND FAMILIES

Planned Parenthood serves as a leader in advancing sexual health by providing medically accurate, age-appropriate sexuality information and education. Last year we offered effective sexuality education programs to 1.3 million youth and adults. Through our websites and award-winning publications, Planned Parenthood delivers information that is essential to allowing women, men, teens, and families to make responsible choices about their sexual and reproductive health.

Online Health Information and Education: Twenty-four Hours a Day, Seven Days a Week

Planned Parenthood Online — plannedparenthood.org® and teenwire.com® — is a collaborative effort of the national organization and participating affiliates to create the leading reproductive health care resource on the Internet. Now receiving approximately one million unique visitors a month, plannedparenthood.org and teenwire.com have become two of Planned Parenthood’s most important outreach channels. The relaunch of plannedparenthood.org in August 2006 further enhanced the site, making it even more interactive, easy to use, and comprehensive. During the past year, teenwire.com launched

- an interactive animation that addresses teens’ concerns about body image
- a Spanish-language version of our popular animation “Your Birth Control Choices”
- a series of quizzes on anatomy and birth control methods

teenwire.com received two nominations for the coveted Webby Awards in 2006 and won accolades from the World Wide Health Awards and the Web Marketing Association in 2005.

With Planned Parenthood Online, our goal is to provide online access to the full depth and breadth of Planned Parenthood health information and services, and opportunities for involvement — 24 hours a day, seven days a week, in English and Spanish.

Planned Parenthood Online focuses on six areas:

- access to health care services
- delivery of sexual and reproductive health information
- policy advocacy
- volunteer recruitment
- staff recruitment
- fundraising
Connecting with Teens

Planned Parenthood serves as a leader in promoting sexual health among young people nationwide by providing medically accurate, age-appropriate sexuality education. In addition to online resources for teens, a range of programs at the national and affiliate level promote open dialogue, creative learning, mentoring, community involvement, and peer education opportunities.

One program, Real Life. Real Talk®, is a social-change effort designed to encourage healthier communication about sexuality within families and communities and, in the process, make discussions more realistic, positive, and productive for young people. After talking with thousands of parents, teenagers, and community leaders, Planned Parenthood developed this program to give parents the tools they want to be able to talk with their children about sexuality and health. Through Real Life. Real Talk., parents and other community members come together to talk about teen life and sexual health in supportive community settings. Last year, Real Life. Real Talk. outreached to prospective partners that do not traditionally work with Planned Parenthood, including public libraries, prominent medical institutions, and faith organizations. Ultimately, these community-wide programs will foster open, honest dialogue and translate to more accurate knowledge and improved sexual health for all young people.

ACTING FOR CHANGE | Spare Change, a highly successful teen theatre troupe sponsored by Six Rivers Planned Parenthood in Eureka, CA, dramatized relationship issues and the importance of sexual health. This talented group of 15 writers and actors performed their own plays for more than 2,500 youths and adults in community high schools and at state conferences last year.

TRAINING ROLE MODELS | Planned Parenthood of New York City trained parents to become peer educators through its Adult Role Models (ARMS) program. After an intensive three-month course, the peer educators conducted workshops in faith-based organizations, GED programs, community organizations, and schools, providing other parents with information and skills so they could effectively and accurately educate their children about reproductive health.

TEENS HELPING TEENS | Planned Parenthood of the St. Louis Region trained youths as Teen Advocates for Sexual Health (TASH). The 20 TASH members are peer educators who give other teens in their communities the tools to live sexually healthy, happy, and responsible lives. TASH members, who earn community service hours, raise awareness about teen dating violence and advocate for medically accurate sexuality education in schools.
In Congress and in statehouses, in the courts, and in the media, Planned Parenthood is a passionate and trustworthy advocate for policies that enable access to comprehensive sexual and reproductive health care, education, and information. Whether talking to members of Congress or arguing cases before the U.S. Supreme Court, we fight for positive policies that promote women's health, prevent unintended pregnancies through effective family planning programs, and protect the health of young people through comprehensive sexuality education.

Advocating in Washington and the States

Planned Parenthood’s policy efforts are focused on both the federal and state levels as we work to improve access to reproductive health care for women. After the FDA’s controversial, scientifically baseless delay in approving expanded access to emergency contraception, our advocacy and media efforts generated constant public and political pressure on the agency, as well as nationwide media coverage critical of the decision-making process. As a result, in August the FDA finally granted over-the-counter status for Plan B emergency contraception for women 18 and older. When pharmacies refused to fill women’s birth control prescriptions, Planned Parenthood successfully exposed this injustice, mobilizing strong opposition to the health threats posed by these policies.

In Congress last year, Planned Parenthood fought to mitigate the impact of changes to the Medicaid program in an increasingly hostile budget environment. We led a coalition of consumer, health, labor, and provider organizations to defeat a bill that would have eliminated contraceptive equity in insurance plans. Our policy work also led to near Senate passage of the Responsible Education About Life (REAL) Act, which would have provided federal funding for comprehensive sexuality education. With the legislation falling two votes shy of passing in the Senate, we know our ongoing education efforts and partnership with congressional allies provide future opportunities for policy proposals that serve the best interest of women’s reproductive health and rights.

Planned Parenthood’s core issues are debated not only in the halls of Congress, but also in state legislatures across the country. Last year, immediately following the confirmation of anti-choice Justice Samuel Alito to the Supreme Court, anti-choice forces in 12 states began introducing abortion bans and trigger bills, which would automatically outlaw abortion should Roe v. Wade be overturned.

To counter these regressive bills, the national organization worked collaboratively with 19 pivotal states that are a part of our Mobilizing to Win initiative, which identifies and organizes grassroots supporters to protect access to abortion care, increase state funding for family planning, and ensure accurate sexuality education in schools. Through this work, and by launching a coordinated mobilization and media campaign we called Stand with the States™, which included petition drives, mobilization events, and door-to-door canvassing, Planned Parenthood successfully halted abortion bans in nine of the 12 states. The news coverage we generated in these states underscored how persuasive our message can be in fighting anti-choice rhetoric and educating the public on positive prevention solutions.

Stand with the States’ highest profile undertaking was supporting the South Dakota Campaign for Healthy Families in its fight to defeat South Dakota’s abortion ban. By May 2006, almost 38,000 petition signatures had been collected — twice the number needed — to place the referendum on the November ballot, where it was subsequently defeated. To enable this victory, Planned Parenthood provided a range of assistance, such as a multi-state phone bank reaching out to South Dakota pro-choice supporters by placing more than 11,000 calls, and sponsoring a National Day of Solidarity with 3,000 activists in 28 states attending events to show support for the women of South Dakota.

Last year we also faced hundreds of anti-choice state laws that severely limited access to abortion care or undermined women’s health and safety. In close coordination with our affiliates, Planned Parenthood helped defeat the vast majority of these restrictive bills and continued to emphasize commonsense policies that prevent unintended pregnancies. Chief among our successes in the states were:

- combating pharmacy refusals to dispense contraceptives, through passage of patient protection acts (CA and IL) and collaborative practice laws (MA, NH, and VT)
- protecting abortion access via a Freedom of Choice Act passed in Hawaii
- restoring and expanding family planning funds (CA, NJ, and WA)
- securing comprehensive sexuality education in the Chicago public schools
Planned Parenthood’s advocacy work last year also extended to the courts where we secured several legal victories in defense of women’s reproductive health and rights:

- We argued Ayotte v. Planned Parenthood of Northern New England before the U.S. Supreme Court, challenging a dangerous New Hampshire abortion restriction that failed to include an exception for medical emergencies and could pose serious health risks to teenagers. Recognizing that abortion laws must protect women’s health and safety, the court sent the case back to the lower court to remedy.

- We protected women in seven states by obtaining, or defending on appeal, injunctions against laws that imposed unconstitutional restrictions on access to abortion care.

- We successfully defeated the federal government’s appeal of our earlier victory, which had declared the first federal law to outlaw abortion unconstitutional.

Planned Parenthood also mounted a vigorous campaign to highlight the anti-choice positions of two Supreme Court nominees, John Roberts and Samuel Alito. Despite eventual confirmation of both justices, our activists and supporters were a leading force defending basic reproductive rights in a united coalition of civil rights, labor, women’s, and environmental organizations. Planned Parenthood organized mobilization drives, phone banks, canvassing, in-district meetings with senators, and more than 369 high-profile events in 34 states. We collected 100,000 petition signatures and sent nearly 420,000 letters to key decision makers.
Partnering with Activists and Supporters Across America

The mobilization of our activists to oppose the Supreme Court nominations and the FDA delay in expanding access to emergency contraception are two examples of Planned Parenthood’s power as a 50-state advocacy organization with more than three million identified activists and supporters. The Planned Parenthood Action Network, which mobilizes activists around the country in support of our goals, recruited more than 125,000 new supporters last year. Also aiding in our advocacy efforts are networks of pro-choice clergy members, Republican activists, young men and women on college campuses, and leaders in the arts and entertainment industries.

- Our Clergy Advisory Board speaks out about the theological basis for choice and mobilizes fellow clergy and lay religious leaders to join the PPFA Pro-Choice Religious Network, a national membership organization advocating for the right of women and men to make free, informed, and morally responsible choices about their reproductive lives. Clergy members at the affiliate level support grassroots advocacy efforts and educational programming.

- Through Vox®, Voices for Planned Parenthood, Planned Parenthood mobilized nearly 35,000 young women and men in 180 college chapters across the country. Using MySpace.com (www.myspace.com/standwiththestates), Vox educated and energized nearly 5,000 supporters who participated in activities and high-visibility events, primarily in response to threats to abortion access. Vox members also mobilized students on campuses in South Dakota for the National Day of Solidarity, garnering local, national, and international media coverage.

- Planned Parenthood Republicans for Choice® (RFC) played a vital advocacy role at both the federal and state levels. Last year RFC formed new chapters in Massachusetts, Ohio, and Michigan, where Northern Michigan University students created the first PPFA-affiliated, on-campus Republicans for Choice group.

- More than 350 leaders in the arts and entertainment industries are volunteer members of the PPFA Board of Advocates (BOA). Their public support is an invaluable aid to Planned Parenthood’s mission.

For more than 30 years, Planned Parenthood Federation of America-International (PPFA-International)® has provided critical reproductive health care and education in Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Caribbean. PPFA-International works with local, nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) around the globe to ensure that women, men, and teens have access to quality reproductive health care. Last year PPFA-International provided nearly $2.5 million in direct financial assistance to 51 local NGOs in 23 countries in Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

As a result of these grants and PPFA-International’s technical assistance, our partners delivered reproductive health care to approximately 314,000 people, with a focus on teens. They also provided safe abortion and post-abortion care services to almost 18,500 women, 63 percent of whom then chose a contraceptive method. In addition, they offered 546,000 people sexuality education and information through schools, community centers, homes, sports events, radio shows, and health fairs, and distributed more than 1.4 million condoms.

Through Planned Parenthood Global Partners (PPGP), our international advocacy arm, affiliates and activists are engaged in reinvigorating the U.S. commitment to family planning and ensuring that U.S. foreign policies protect and promote quality sexual and reproductive health care, education, and information around the world. Nearly 90 percent of Planned Parenthood affiliates are active in PPGP, which brings together a vibrant, diverse, and vocal nationwide community of citizens to educate their neighbors, the media, and their elected officials about the importance of improving U.S. policies overseas. In the last two years, we have provided nearly 125,000 educational and organizing materials on global issues.

In one example of the important work of PPGP last year, Rep. Chris Shays (R-CT) joined PPGP and Planned Parenthood of Connecticut on a study tour to Tanzania and Uganda, where he witnessed firsthand the negative impact of U.S. HIV/AIDS funding restrictions on African youth. Based on his experience, Rep. Shays called a congressional hearing to examine the dangerous abstinence-only-until-marriage spending requirement in the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief and urged that more be done to protect women against HIV transmission.
AFRICA | Through 18 partners in five countries, the PPFA-International Africa Regional Office provided health care services to almost 200,000 people, and sexuality education to more than one million people. PPFA-International supplied emergency reproductive health care in war-torn Darfur by counseling victims of sexual violence and providing post-abortion care and emergency contraception. We also supplied sexual and reproductive health services to people displaced by conflict and famine in the Tigray region of Ethiopia, initiated an HIV/AIDS prevention program in a large urban slum in Kenya, and introduced voluntary counseling and testing services for HIV/AIDS in Nigeria and Sudan.

ASIA | In Nepal, PPFA-International launched the Network for Addressing Women’s Reproductive Rights, a three-year countrywide program to increase access to safe abortion services. Composed of four NGOs, the network trained 953 pharmacists, paramedics, and community-based providers, who referred 891 women to safe abortion clinics. PPFA-International’s 13 partners in Asia trained 173 doctors and mid-level providers and provided 7,843 safe abortion services. A cadre of 1,064 trained community-based representatives, including peer educators, provided more than 80,000 youths with reproductive health information and supplied 13,678 adults and youths with modern contraception.

LATIN AMERICA | Twenty-two of our NGO partners in 10 Latin American countries implemented health care programs, which provided thousands of young people and adults with information, contraceptives, safe abortion care, and post-abortion procedures. Many of our partners also worked in coalitions advocating for policy reform to guarantee a woman’s right to choose. Both of our partners in Ecuador grew substantially last year, with the national adolescent program providing contraceptive services to more than 10,000 clients in some of the country’s poorest areas. Our partners in Guatemala piloted groundbreaking approaches to expanding health care, including a mobile clinic that drives through poor, gang-ridden areas around Guatemala City, and an innovative youth-led, youth-friendly pharmacy in a remote area of the country, which will not only provide key health services to the community, but will also generate revenue to subsidize adolescent health programs.

SUMMARY OF FINANCIAL ACTIVITIES FOR THE YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 2006

Our broad base of committed donors provides more than 75 percent of the national organization’s revenue and nearly 20 percent of affiliate revenue — evidence of our powerful grassroots support.

Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., is a tax-exempt corporation under Internal Revenue Service code section 501(c)(3) and is not a private foundation (Tax ID #13-1644147). Contributions are tax-deductible.

The IRS classifies the Planned Parenthood Action Fund as a 501(c)(4) not-for-profit organization. Contributions are not tax-deductible.

A list of all organizations that received contributions from PPFA during the year that ended June 30, 2006, may be obtained by writing to PPFA, 434 West 33rd Street, New York, NY 10001.

Audited financial statements are available upon request from the Office of the Attorney General, Department of Law, Charities Bureau, 120 Broadway, New York, NY 10271.

(a) National organization figures reflect operations of Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., Planned Parenthood Action Fund, Inc. (including its Political Action Committee and other segregated fund, Planned Parenthood Votes) and The Planned Parenthood Foundation for the year ended June 30, 2006. Affiliate figures reflect the operations of 122 Planned Parenthood affiliates and are based on amounts reported in affiliate audited financial statements for fiscal years ended during 2005.

(b) Payments and receipts between affiliates and the national organization have been eliminated. These include dues, rebates, and payments to the Guttmacher Institute. Related adjustments have been made to the balance sheet.

(c) Includes corporate contributions, foundation grants, and support from more than 900,000 active individual contributors, including individual contributions received through International Service Agencies and Federal Service Campaigns (on-the-job solicitation and contributions through payroll deduction plans for employees of federal and state governments and participating corporations). This also includes $14.4 million of bequests.

(d) The Guttmacher Institute, a special affiliate to which PPFA supplies some support, is an independent, not-for-profit corporation for reproductive health research, policy analysis, and public education.

(e) Expenses do not include capitalized expenditures for property, plant, and equipment and repayment of related loans, but do include depreciation and amortization of such property, plant, and equipment and interest expense on such loans.

Founded by Margaret Sanger in 1916 as America’s first birth control clinic, Planned Parenthood believes that everyone has the right to choose when or whether to have a child, that every child should be wanted and loved, and that women should be in charge of their destinies.

Mission Statement

Planned Parenthood believes in the fundamental right of each individual, throughout the world, to manage his or her fertility, regardless of the individual’s income, marital status, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, age, national origin, or residence. We believe that respect and value for diversity in all aspects of our organization are essential to our well-being. We believe that reproductive self-determination must be voluntary and preserve the individual’s right to privacy. We further believe that such self-determination will contribute to an enhancement of the quality of life, strong family relationships, and population stability.

Based on these beliefs, and reflecting the diverse communities within which we operate, the mission of Planned Parenthood is

- to provide comprehensive reproductive and complementary health care services in settings that preserve and protect the essential privacy and rights of each individual
- to advocate public policies that guarantee these rights and ensure access to such services
- to provide educational programs that enhance understanding of individual and societal implications of human sexuality
- to promote research and the advancement of technology in reproductive health care and encourage understanding of their inherent bioethical, behavioral, and social implications
